Hello YCC friends and families,

We hope you and your family are doing well under the current circumstances. We know that this is a stressful time and we are here to help our families and the greater community. Our therapists, case managers, psychiatrists, and SNAP (Stop Now and Plan) employees are continuing to provide telephonic sessions and follow up contacts remotely. YCC continues to accept new clients for outpatient therapy, psychiatric evaluations, and case management services. Our crisis hotline, (904)725-6662, continues to operate 24/7.

YCC continues to work collectively with our partners during this health crisis to ensure the needs of families are met promptly and with care and compassion. We are continuing to serve the Northeast Florida community and stand prepared to help families need of emotional support. As we continue to heed to recommendations for social distancing, we must ensure families are not emotionally distancing. Please check our website www.youthcrisiscenter.org for the latest COVID-19 information, including an interview with Gator Country about how to talk with your child about this health crisis.

Social distancing does not mean emotional distancing. Please stay connected with family and friends as a means to ensure emotional well-being.

With gratitude,

Kim Sirdevan, LCSW
President and CEO
