our purpose

Fight to Flourish (F2F) is an all inclusive wellness event that encourages teens and adults to get active through fun and competitive physical activities. COVID has been extremely stressful and thrown many of us off our fitness game, so this event is a great way to kick start healthy habits in the new year.

Participants will compete in a series of five workouts over the course of the day and the top performers will earn a place on the podium!

This event is inspired by the passing of the Cora Schryver of Ojai, CA. At age 13, Cora took her life. Cora loved animals, the outdoors, and CrossFit. In her gym, she was known for “pushing people past their comfort zones,” always giving it her all, and for wearing only Converse sneakers when working out.

The suicide rate of people ages 10 to 24 increased by 56 percent, from 2007 to 2017, according to the Center for Disease Control and Prevention. Today, according to the same source, teen suicide is the second-most common cause of death among teenagers and young adults, overtaking homicides and outpaced only by accidents.

Through this event, we aim to raise awareness about this issue and resources for its prevention. We invite adults and teens to work out together, honoring and remembering the teens, families, and loved ones, like Cora’s, affected by teen suicide.

Proceeds from this event will help support the development of the Youth Crisis Center's recreation center as well as outreach initiatives including the Youth Wellness Program.

Grab your teammate and compete for the cause!
